

Abstract of the Disclosure

A composition and method for treating mammalian skin by the application of a film-forming composition which is hydrophilic, but water insoluble; said film moisturizing said 5 mammalian skin, providing increased skin retentivity of cosmetic ingredients, and providing sustained release of biologically active agents contained in the composition.